DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to the Request for Reconsideration filed on 26 January 2005. Overall, claims 1-36 are pending in this application. Some of the arguments with respect to the references applied in the previous Office Action were deemed persuasive, however, a new Non-final rejection is set forth below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by lida et al. (PN 6,374,813).

Regarding claim 15 lida et al. discloses a method of operating a four-stroke internal combustion engine (See Abstract) including a variable volume combustion chamber defined by a piston (See Figure 2 (6)) reciprocating within a cylinder between top-dead center and bottom-dead center points and an intake valve (See Figure 2 (12a)) and an exhaust (See Figure 2 (16a)) valve controlled during repetitive, sequential exhaust, intake, compression and expansion strokes of said piston comprising: establishing a low pressure event (See Column 1 Lines 24-27, Column 11 Lines 27-33) within the combustion chamber during the intake stroke of the piston; and, establishing a combustion chamber rebreathe event during the intake stroke of the piston by controlling a rebreathe event exhaust valve opening and closing wherein the rebreathe event exhaust valve opening occurs during the low pressure event (See Column 11 Lines 17-33).

Regarding claim 16 lida et al. discloses said low pressure event is established by controlling phasing of an exhaust event exhaust valve closure and the intake valve opening (See Column 11 Lines 17-33, Lines 39-59).

Regarding claim 17 lida et al. discloses the exhaust event exhaust valve closure absolute phase relative to exhaust stroke top dead center is not greater than the intake valve opening phase after exhaust stroke top dead center (See Figure 12).

Regarding claim 18 lida et al. discloses the exhaust event exhaust valve closure occurs before exhaust stroke top dead center (See Figure 12).

Regarding claim 19 lida et al. discloses the exhaust event exhaust valve closure occurs after exhaust stroke top dead center (See Figure 12).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 20-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Iida et al. (PN 6, 374,813).

Iida et al. discloses the invention as recited in claim 15 above, however, fails to disclose an exhaust valve lift range, rebreath, exhaust valve and intake valve event angular ranges. It is the Examiner's position that the various lift ranges and angular ranges would have been an obvious matter of design choice well within the level of ordinary skill in the art depending on design variables such as engine load and speed requirements. Moreover, there is nothing in the record which establishes that the claimed lift ranges and angular ranges present a novel or unexpected result (See In re Kuhle, 526 F.2d 553, 188 USPQ 7 (CCPA 1975)).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-14, 30-36 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 15-29 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Unger et al. (PN 6,752,123), Morikawa et al. (PN 6,442,200), Aoyama et al. (PN 4,703,734) disclose similar valve control methods.
